Berkeley-Quality Education at Your Workplace

UC Berkeley Extension
Be Your Best with Berkeley
Unlock the value in your existing employees by offering cutting-edge education that advances their skills to meet your business challenges.

UC Berkeley Extension corporate education programs are engineered to fit your company’s needs, time frame, and budget. Our skills-based courses can develop your staff expertise in a particular field or offer cross-training to ensure that your departments maximize productivity through enhanced understanding of your company’s business goals.

With UC Berkeley Extension, you can ensure quality education that is consistent with the Berkeley name. All academic courses meet UC Berkeley standards, and all are developed and delivered by seasoned professionals—experts who understand the business issues your employees face. On-site training at your workplace makes Berkeley-quality education convenient and affordable. Choose from a wide array of business and technical courses, or consult with Extension specialists to customize education or training unique to your company’s goals.

Easy access to continuing education keeps your employees’ professional expertise up-to-date with minimal effort. Whether you choose on-site training, external classroom courses, or even online instruction, UC Berkeley Extension can help you improve employee performance, staff retention, and organizational success.

How Corporate Education Works

Extension can deliver an existing course in a matter of weeks. Fully customized courses or training programs typically require 60–90 days of development and additional consultations with education specialists and course instructors.

Our Courses at Your Site

1. Review the UC Berkeley Extension course catalog or website to find a course or subject area that closely matches your needs.
2. Consult with an Extension education specialist about your scheduling and location preferences.
3. Choose the format—weekday or evening classes, intensive weekend workshops, online courses, or hybrid classroom-online options—that meets your needs.
4. Provide Extension with a list of attending employees to ensure proper recording of academic credit.
5. Schedule and attend courses.
6. Assess the outcome with your Extension education specialist after completion, and determine future training needs.

Fully Customized Courses

Meet with an Extension education specialist, and subsequently with an instructor, to discuss and assess your educational needs, time frame, and location preferences. (We respect the confidentiality of your proprietary information.) An Extension education specialist then designs training that addresses your needs. It takes a minimum of 60 to 90 days to complete the design. We schedule and deliver the course and assess the outcome with you after completion.
